TIN MILL COMMUNITY DAY IS PLANNED HERE

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 10.—We are told by Secretary of Commerce Rogers that business activity is only ten per cent under 1929 and that employment is at its highest level since 1930. Statements and figures on re-employment differ so radically that they do not carry any degree of conviction. But, granting for the sake of argument that there is a definite increase, the questions arise: Why is there no corresponding reduction in the sums the administration allegedly is spending for relief of the unemployed? And why do estimates for the future expenditure include more billions for such relief?

Mr. Roosevelt gaily proclaims the doctrine that the national income will so increase in volume that there will be no difficulty collecting the mounting taxes necessary to finance his colossal outlays. Business will have to be as active as Jesse Owens to make good that happy theory.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Today is the last day of Fire Prevention Week, but such activity as safeguarding against fires would not be confined to any one particular week, but should be the duty of every public spirited citizen the other fifty-one weeks of the year.

Dear Pa New:
In a recent article of mine in a Cleveland publication I mentioned the valuable help that the birds give us, and the following is taken from a letter received from an Ohio bird lover of this publication, quote, "This summer while working in my suburban garden I heard a great fuss in one of the many trees that surround the grounds, and on investigation saw, Robins, Cat-birds, Blue-Birds, and Jays, birds that do not tolerate close companionship attacking a large black snake that was robbing the nest of a King bird. The birds harassed the snake until the snake was killed by a neighbor. Surely this is a co-operative spirit that could be pursued by we humans in observing the actions of our bird neighbors."

Jupiter Pluvius is starting to make up for the deficiency in rainfall which has occurred this summer, almost two inches of rain being reported for the past 24 hours, most of it occurring last evening, although it rained steadily during the night.

A transportation truck was this morning noticed unloading sleds at a number of business houses on Washington street. This is a grim reminder of the cold weather that will soon be with us.

This is homecoming day in most of the colleges in this district, special programs being observed at Westminster, Slippery Rock and Grove City, among others. Large numbers of former students and graduates have returned for the day.

Last night's heavy rain was welcomed by the farmers. Considerable rain is needed before the freezing weather, Pa New is informed.

Shenango Plant Open To Public On Wednesday

Community Day Is Planned At Big Tin Plant In City Next Week

EXPECT THOUSANDS TO VISIT MILL

Guides Will Explain To Visitors How Tin Plate Is Manufactured

Every citizen of New Castle and Lawrence County will be enabled to see how tin plate is manufactured on Wednesday, October 14, when Community Day will be observed by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

Carl E. Crawford, general superintendent of the Shenango Works announced today that on Wednesday from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. every person in the city and county over 12 years of age would be welcomed to go through the huge Shenango works and see tin plate manufactured.

The idea back of the Community Day plan is to acquaint the people of this city and county with the work of the tin plate plants in New Castle. From the raw steel bar through to the finished shining tin plate, through the hot mill, pickling, annealing, cold roll and boxing departments, the guests will be taken and at four different stations, loud speakers will describe the operations the guests are seeing.

Personal Invitation
"I would like to extend a personal invitation to every citizen and organization in New Castle and in the county," said Mr. Crawford today. "Naturally this is a physical impossibility so I am extending through the columns of The News that invitation. Business, civic, religious, fraternal, patriotic and professional organizations both of men and women are cordially invited to come down to the plant anytime between ten and six o'clock. To those persons who are outside organizations the invitation is extended just as heartily."

This is the first time in the history of tin plate manufacture in New Castle when such an invitation has been extended. Because of the hazards to outsiders, comparatively few have ever been through the tin mills. On Wednesday prescribed lanes of travel will be set out, starting at the general office gate. Every twenty feet there will be an attendant to answer questions and all visitors are urged to ask the questions that occur to them as they go through.

Four Stations
At four different places in the mill there will be loud speakers. Trained men will speak to the crowd through the loud speakers, describing the operations.

Refuse Marriage License To Woman Wearing Shorts

(International News Service)
ARMONK, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Ethel Smith Atwell, divorced wife of Roy Atwell, the comedian, today knew that when in Armonk one must do as the Armonkians do when they get married. In short, she learned she could not be wed in shorts.

Justice of the Peace Julius W. Raven disclosed that Mrs. Atwell and Cyril Tooley, the golfer, came here early this morning and wanted him to marry them.

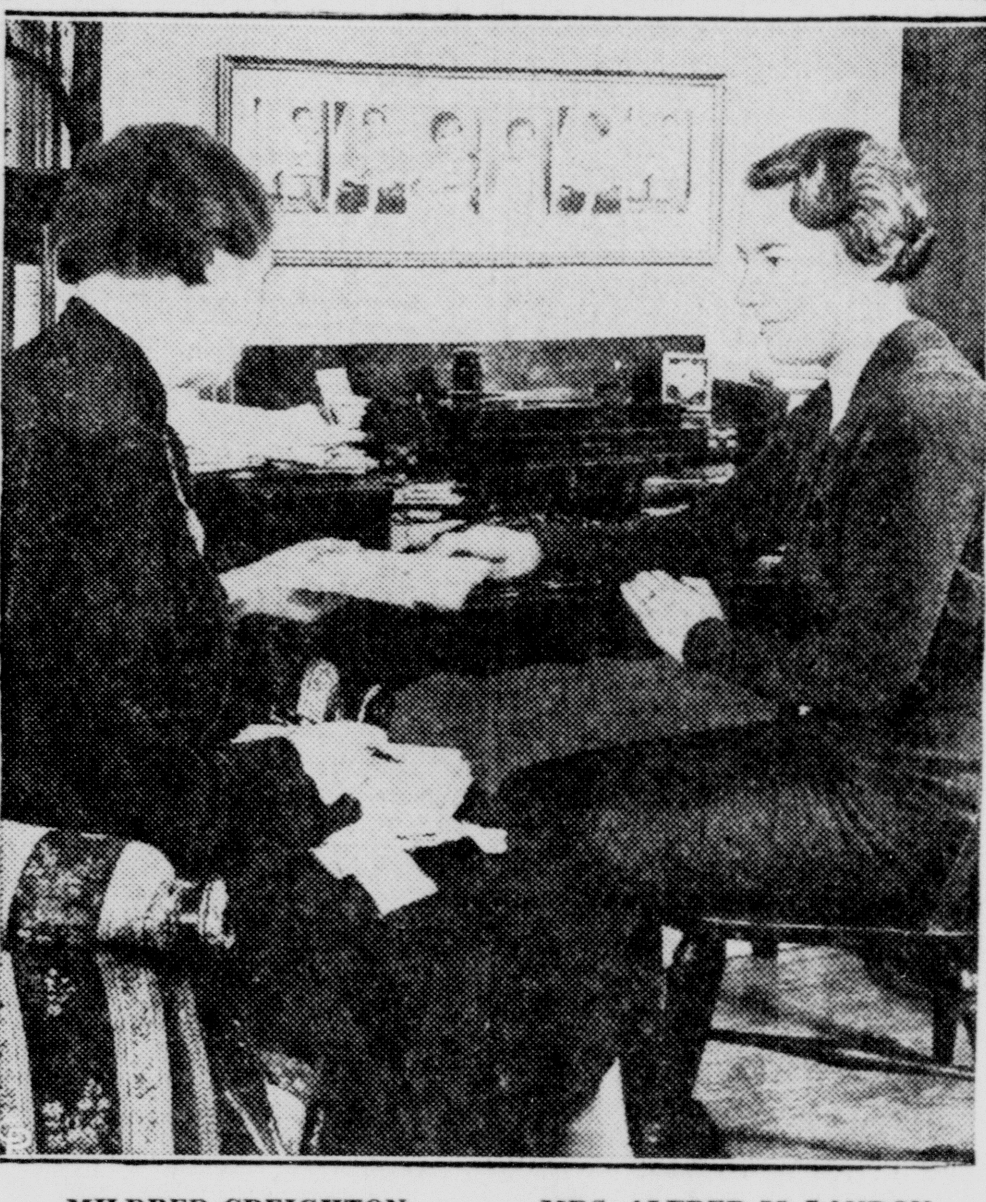

They went to a police booth and told Police Clerk Edward Rogers what they wanted. He telephoned Raven and said Mrs. Atwell was wearing shorts.

Raven said he would not marry them. They said they would "go some place else." But they did not go to the marrying towns of Harrison or Rye. Moreover, Town Clerk William Wildings of Harrison said he would never, never issue a marriage license to a woman wearing shorts.

Arrives In India City After Another Hop By Plane

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN
(International News Service)
CALCUTTA, Oct. 10.—This is the crossroad—the half-way mark—the "Times Square" of travel from the ocean to the interior.

We roared into Calcutta aboard our Imperial Airways liner at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Jubbulpur, Delhi, Allahabad and Cawnpore. It was a slight that took us over all the mystery and beauty and ugliness that is India.

Calcutta is really the "middle of the world." It's the midway mark for all travel and shipping from Europe to the Far East so I couldn't help but feel we had reached a milestone when we came down on the smooth modern airport whose twentieth-century atmosphere is in such contrast to the antiquity of the city itself.

Northwest Predictions Are For Greatly Curtained Majorities This Year

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO OMAHA, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt is finding the road to Democratic victory in the Northwest marked with several "warning" signs such as the cautious motorist observes carefully when driving an unfamiliar route.

In Minnesota, where the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis gave him literally a tremendous reception, the President found the Democrats split into two savagely warring camps over the surrender of Democratic candidates to the dominant farmer-labor party. For the first time in modern history the Democrats have no candidates for governor and senator in Minnesota this year, having withdrawn their own candidates to support the farmer-labor support for the national Democratic ticket.

Testimonial For Pyle Is Planned

Announcement was made today of a testimonial smoker which will be tendered to David S. Pyle, former general superintendent of Carnegie-Illinois operations in New Castle, to be held Saturday night October 17 in the Cathedral.

The testimonial is tendered by the employees of the two tin plants, the Shenango and New Castle and will start at seven o'clock.

Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg Makes Himself Iron Dictator Of Austria

By ALFRED TRYNAUER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
VIENNA, Oct. 10.—In two smashing blows of revolutionary import, Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, who succeeded the assassinated Engelbert Dollfuss, today made himself the iron dictator of Austria.

After 14 hours of almost uninterrupted session, Chancellor Schuschnigg's cabinet this morning ordered immediate dissolution of all semi-military organizations—thereby decreeing the end of the Heimwehr and the political death of the Heimwehr leader, Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg.

Then one by one Schuschnigg stripped his cabinet members of their old party loyalties and made them solemnly swear unswerving fealty to the person and principles of Schuschnigg alone.

The Schuschnigg coup was accompanied by emergency orders to the entire Austrian army and Vienna police force to stand by for possible rebellion by the Heimwehr.

Prince Von Starhemberg at once convoked a meeting of Heimwehr leaders at Vienna headquarters.

Prominent Heimwehren said he raved for hours in his office after the Chancellor's bold step, and refused to talk even to intimates, but it is not believed the prince will attempt to challenge Dr. Schuschnigg.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Angered by the slashing attack of Italian ambassador Dino Grandi, Soviet Russia is seriously considering withdrawal from the international committee for non-intervention in Spain, it was learned today.

The Russians particularly resent Grandi's use of the word "blackmail" in discussing Russia's threat to abandon Spanish neutrality unless Italy, German and Portugal cease rendering alleged aid to the Spanish Rebels.

Claim 18 Members Of Boland Family On Public Payroll

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—The Republican state committee today took a back-hand slap at Rep. Patrick J. Boland, Scranton Democrat, whom it charged with having 18 members of his family drawing federal or state salaries.

"Goodness and money—taxpayers' money—have flowed into the pocketbooks of the Boland clan of Lackawanna county from the still waters of the new deal," the committee said in a statement. "If any member of the Boland family has not reaped the spoils of nepotism, his or her name and whereabouts have been kept secret."

The new deal Santa Claus has prepared a bountiful table for the Bolands, has filled their cups to overflowing, has made life more abundant than any Aladdin with a magic lamp," the statement charged.

Two Co-Eds Are Killed In Crash

Two Men Also Injured As Automobile Sideswipes Telephone Pole Today

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—Two young Antioch College (Ohio) co-eds were killed, and two men were injured, one seriously, when their automobile sideswiped a telephone pole today at nearby Caledonia Park.

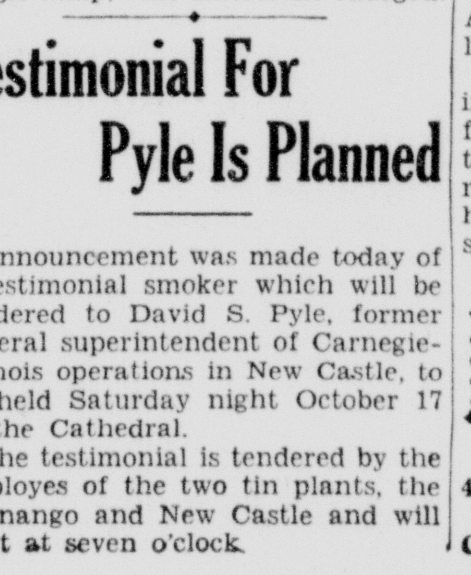

The dead were Miss Harriet Randall, 21, of Cleveland Heights, and Miss Margaret Walden, 21, of Newton, Mass.

Albert B. Sawyer, 20, of Canon Lane, Ky., suffered serious injuries and was under observation at Chambersburg Hospital. James Myers, 21, of Cos Cob, Conn., driver of the automobile, escaped with minor injuries.

According to the state highway patrol, the young people were on their way to New York seeking employment, having completed a ten-week theoretical course in college. All were students of Antioch College.

Myers, who was held for questioning, patrolmen said, indicated he had fallen asleep at the wheel of the automobile. The car skidded off the road, striking the pole. The party had been driving all night, Myers said.

Slain Widow

MRS. GRACE ASQUITH

Detectives at Weymouth, Mass., quizzed one man and sought another following the identification of the severed legs taken from Boston harbor as being those of Mrs. Grace Asquith, 41-year-old widow and comedy photographer's model. She had been missing since Sept. 20. Police could find no motive for the apparent slaying.

Boston Police Fear Dual Crime

Recovery Of Woman's Body Reveals Man Is Also Missing

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Pushing Orthodox police work into the background, analytical science today moved to determine whether Boston's dissection-murder specialist sought to escape justice or his one known crime by eliminating with similar gruesome thoroughness a witness who might have been able to point the finger of suspicion at the guilty man.

New horror was lent the case—first disclosed when dismembered legs of a woman floated to the surface of Boston harbor last Monday—with recovery of infinitesimal bits of human tissue from bathtub pipes in the bloodstained home of Mrs. Grace Griffin Asquith.

Police believe that Mrs. Asquith, missing for several weeks from her suburban summer cottage, was the first victim of the murderer. They fear that John Albert Lyons, an admirer of the attractive widow, may have shared her fate. Both vanished simultaneously. Neither has been heard from.

Charges Public Funds Used By Administration To Sway Electorate

DECLARES NEW DEAL WILL BE BEATEN

G. O. P. Candidate Addresses Huge Crowd In Chicago Stadium Last Night

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 10.—Carrying a fighting campaign against President Roosevelt thru the postal states of the mid-west, Governor Alfred M. Landon today boldly charged the administration with attempting to buy the election through the use of public funds.

In a breakfast speech here to wildly cheering Republicans, the Republican nominee said:

"We are opposed by the most powerful machine ever assembled on American soil. It is financed in a large part out of the public treasury. This means our money is paying for it."

Allocate Public Funds.
"It is allocating public funds up and down the country on the eve of the election for the obvious purpose of attempting to sway the electorate. It is endeavoring to coerce thousands of voters by threatening them on relief with destitution unless they vote right. It is trying to poison the mind of the public with a campaign of vicious misrepresentation."

But undismayed by the prospects Landon in fighting tones declared, "Can this New Deal machine, which under the cloak of idealism has operated on the old spoils system, be beaten? I say it can."

Attack At Chicago.
This militant speech came on the heels of a devastating attack on Roosevelt spending policies at Chicago. There the Republican nominee told a wildly enthusiastic audience of 25,000 with 10,000 assembled outside—that he would balance the federal budget if elected president, without curtailing relief to the needy or benefits to farmers, simply by slashing the waste and extravagance of the Roosevelt administration.

Amid tumultuous applause, Landon took out of President Roosevelt

Madrid Makes Ready For Grim Siege Of Rebels

Report Large Scale Rebel Advance May Be Launched At Dawn

RAIL LINKS INTO MADRID BROKEN

Highways Leading To Southeastern Section Are Still Open

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 10.—This city of one million, its last railroad reportedly cut off, tightened its belt and doused its lights today for one of history's grimmest sieges as investing rebel forces thrust their deadly trident nearer the capital.

News of furious engagements on half a dozen far-flung fronts reached Madrid through grapevine channels, the most important being a claim by the rebel radio at Corunna that 300 Red militiamen were killed in an insurgent bombing attack on Bilbao.

Rail Links Broken
The flow of traffic on railroads within the besieged Madrid sector bears out rebel claims that the railroad to Valencia through Guadalajara Province has been occupied at Sigüenza, and the only other outside rail link towards Alicante on the south, has been broken by bombardments near Aranjuez. Both assertions are denied in Madrid—but so is the capture of San Martin De Valdeiglesias, 40 miles west of here, now an uncontested fact—and food supplies here do not show any signs of unbroken replenishment.

All that is left to Madrid are the highways leading to the still loyal southeastern section of the country, but road transportation has already been cut off.

Body Of Girl Found In Woods

Tourists Make Discovery At Cattaraugus Indian Reservation

GIRL EVIDENTLY BEATEN TO DEATH

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Men today led the investigation into the death of Miss Christina Jurell, attractive Springville, N. Y. girl, whose brutally beaten body was found in a woods alongside a boulevard in the Cattaraugus Indian reservation near Irving.

Miss Jurell's body, bearing innumerable bruises, several fractured ribs and minus three front teeth, was discovered by tourists eating luncheon late yesterday.

The girl apparently had been beaten, kicked and choked to death, police said, in a desperate struggle with her assailant. The body was fully clothed. The young woman lay on a brown felt hat crushed beneath her.

Identify Body

An autopsy was to be performed later today. Department of Justice agents joined Erie county deputy sheriff, state troopers, and Buffalo police in the investigation because the body was found on the Cattaraugus Indian Reservation, over which they have police supervision.

Two sisters of Miss Jurell identified the body in the Erie county morgue last night. They said she left home Wednesday morning by train to attend a theatre and to visit friends in Buffalo.

Miss Jurell's death tentatively was fixed as having occurred some time Wednesday. Her sisters said Miss Jurell never had had any love affair.

October 14 Starting Date For Food Ingathering For New Castle Hospital

An annual project that has always received a prompt response, is the ingathering of food for the New Castle hospital, and this year it will begin on October 14.

Committees of women will call at the various homes for donations of canned fruits, vegetables and other staple goods, and take care of transporting same to the local hospital where all will be placed on reserved shelves for future use.

It is hoped that residents will be generous with their donations of food and that the same courteous co-operation will be extended committees in charge.

Norris Runs Independently

But Senator Norris delayed his decision to stand for re-election so long that Terry Carpenter gained the Democratic nomination, and ex-Congressman Robert G. Simmons won the Republican nomination.

Norris is now belatedly running as an independent candidate with the blessing of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley, and Carpenter has refused to haul down his regular Democratic flag.

The result, in Nebraska as in Minnesota, is a split Democratic party, which may not operate to Mr. Roosevelt's advantage in November, especially if things are close.

Give Assurances

However, the President left Minnesota for Nebraska with the assurance of all factions, including the dominant farmer-laborites, that the 11 Gopher electoral votes are his next month. They made no promises that he would carry the state by the 1932 majority, which was 237,000, but Democratic and farmer-labor spokesmen were unanimous in predicting he would have a "safe" majority. They spoke hopefully of 100,000.

Well satisfied with these predictions and his own mediatory efforts, Mr. Roosevelt turned southward for another day's campaigning through the corn fields of Iowa, which will culminate tonight in his answering Gov. Landon's recent agricultural speech.

This will be in Omaha, and is regarded as one of the major speeches that the President will make in the campaign. He will be talking not only to an Omaha audience, but to the whole Mississippi valley grain belt, and to the country over a national radio hook-up.

GOVERNOR LANDON AROUSES THROG AT CINCINNATI

velt's own mouth three powerful reasons for balancing the budget. He quoted the president in his Pittsburgh speech of the 1932 campaign as giving these reasons for a balanced budget:

1—"Upon the financial stability of the United States government depends the stability of trade and employment, and of the entire banking, savings and insurance systems of the country."

2—"If the nation, like a spendthrift throws discretion to the winds it is on the road to bankruptcy."

3—"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors, because they are a burden on production, and if excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, tax-sold farms and in hordes of the hungry tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain."

The crowd applauded Landon as he enunciated the first of the three Roosevelt reasons. It appeared shocked when the Republican nominee blandly announced he was repeating the words of "Candidate Roosevelt" in 1932. It caught on promptly, however, and "boomed" heartily as Landon repeated Roosevelt's two other reasons. Landon raised his right hand and shook his head negatively in a vain effort to halt the booning.

Increased Deficits.

When he went on to "turn to the record" he charged Roosevelt with increasing expenditures, with increasing taxes and with increasing deficits instead of meeting his pledges of the 1932 campaign. He annually promised a balanced budget and "no new taxes" in each of the four years of his administration, only to let the budget go unbalanced while "jamming 14 new tax bills through congress."

"Four years ago, the gross federal debt was 21 billion dollars," said Landon. "Today it is 34 billion dollars."

"These are the facts. Instead of a decrease, we have had an enormous increase all along, an increase in taxes, an increase in debt—all of which, as Jesse Owens, the 'world's fastest human', could 'overtake the expenditures' of the Roosevelt administration."

Even the ordinary expenditures of the government have been skyrocketed, said Landon. He pointed out the government was spending $902,000,000 more annually now on routine expenses than when Roosevelt came into power.

And in conclusion Landon paraphrased Roosevelt's Pittsburgh speech of two weeks ago, in reference to a baseball game. "They talk of it as though preserving the financial integrity of the United States were only a game," said Landon.

"The American people know that is more than a game—that our very existence depends upon keeping our financial house in order. But if the administration wants a 'baseball analogy, if they want the score—it is easy to give. It is written clear across the country."

"Twenty-five billion dollars spent. 'Thirteen billion dollars added to the public debt. 'Eleven million unemployed left on base."

Pledges Broken.

Time and again, Landon libeled Roosevelt for breaking pledges to the American people. Once to up-roarious laughter. Once to uproarious laughter. He shouted that not even Jesse Owens, the "world's fastest human", could "overtake the expenditures" of the Roosevelt administration.

"Twenty-five billion dollars spent. 'Thirteen billion dollars added to the public debt. 'Eleven million unemployed left on base."

Pledges Broken.

Time and again, Landon libeled Roosevelt for breaking pledges to the American people. Once to up-roarious laughter. Once to uproarious laughter. He shouted that not even Jesse Owens, the "world's fastest human", could "overtake the expenditures" of the Roosevelt administration.

Even the ordinary expenditures of the government have been skyrocketed, said Landon. He pointed out the government was spending $902,000,000 more annually now on routine expenses than when Roosevelt came into power.

And in conclusion Landon paraphrased Roosevelt's Pittsburgh speech of two weeks ago, in reference to a baseball game. "They talk of it as though preserving the financial integrity of the United States were only a game," said Landon.

"The American people know that is more than a game—that our very existence depends upon keeping our financial house in order. But if the administration wants a 'baseball analogy, if they want the score—it is easy to give. It is written clear across the country."

ways played an important part in Spain's communications. The government has at last admitted evacuation of children to Mediterranean ports, "to get them away from the atmosphere of war" and a concession that food supplies are limited —"to provide them with the necessary nourishment."

Large Scale Advance Near Burgos, Spain, Oct. 10.—A large-scale rebel advance upon Madrid may be launched at dawn tomorrow, according to revelations at the insurgent headquarters here today.

All troops were massed and awaiting the command to advance. Generalissimo Francisco Franco was making a tour of inspection today, conferring with rebel commanders along a wide front, and was expected to set the zero hour some time tonight.

Fighting In Madrid
Gibraltar, Oct. 10.—Fighting has broken out in Madrid between "numerous militiamen" attempting to flee from the city, and civil guards and workers shock troops, who battled against the deserters, according to the rebel radio at Seville today.

WEEKLY LETTER

Monday, Oct. 12, 1936 The Castleton 12:15 to 1:30 p. m.

Fellow Rotarian:
The government is preparing to list 26,000,000 names as a start in the unemployment insurance rolls. Will your name be listed there? You may want it listed so it will be well for you to attend the meeting Monday and hear Harry C. Thompson speak on "Unemployment Insurance."

This type of insurance is here, so it is well to know all about it and Mr. Thompson is an authority on the subject.

Judge Braham attended Pittsburgh Rotary.

ing investigation of Spain's charges Italian troops participated in execution of a number of Spanish citizens in the Balearic Islands.

The examination will be made, it was said, with a view to determining the authenticity of the charges. They were based upon an affidavit by a Spaniard who said he escaped from the islands after the Italian troops had been landed.

British spokesmen emphasized that in placing the non-intervention committee the government is not taking responsibility for their authenticity.

Seek To Eliminate Menace
In the meantime, government officials worked feverishly to ameliorate the menacing situation brought about by Italian ambassador Dino Grandi's implied threat that Italy will openly aid the Spanish Rebels if Russia abandons her attitude of neutrality in Spain.

Carrying "Blackmail," "provocation," "sabotage," in the most sensational diplomatic attack in recent history, the Italian delegate warned the powers, it was learned, that "Italy will not be responsible for the consequences" if Russia abandons neutrality.

Britain felt that the fate of European peace hung in the balance today as London anxiously awaited the reaction of Fascist and Soviet governments to the "diplomatic battle of the century."

ing the various processes. As the guests enter the gate at the general office entrance, an electric eye will record them. Unnoticed and unheard this marvel of modern efficiency will record each person as he goes through the beam of light.

As the guests enter at the east entrance to the hot mill they will be greeted by the clang and clatter of the rolls the cranes and the shears. It is a sight that New Castle is proud of and with the Community Day established not a person in this county but can say that he has seen tinplate manufactured.

For obvious reasons the invitation is restricted to persons over 12 years of age. Youngsters under 12 are at an age when they might bump themselves against the piles of iron and machinery and in addition a youngster under 12 would hardly appreciate the steps of the manufacture of tinplate.

This is the only restriction. Mr. Crawford, the general superintendent has arranged to have visitors see every part of the tin mill from the first heat of the bars, clear through to the moment when the shiny tin plate is boxed ready for shipment to all parts of the world.

New Castle means tinplate and tinplate means New Castle. The Community Day should attract thousands to the Shenango plant and it is hoped that every citizen who can, will avail himself of the opportunity of going through this mammoth plant.

MRS. J. H. GWIN LUNCHEON HOSTESS

Lovely fall flowers decorated the home of Mrs. J. H. Gwin, Glenmore boulevard, for the meeting of Jolly Ten club members who were entertained as her guests. The affair was in the form of a 1 o'clock luncheon, marking an important event on their seasons calendar.

Crystal and white waxen tapers guarding a floral centerpiece, made the table most attractive for the serving of a tasty menu, covers being laid for the usual membership and one guest, Mrs. Robert Gwin, Mrs. J. K. Hess assisted the hostess. The hours that followed were spent informally with fancy-work and conversation.

Mrs. Frank McArthur of Youngstown, O., will entertain at her home on October 22.

BALPH CLASS HONORS MRS. T. S. McANLIS

As a courtesy to Mrs. T. S. McAnlis, of Boyles avenue, who is moving to Pittsburgh in the near future, members of the Mary Balph Bible class of Highland U. P. church tendered her a lovely dinner and farewell party Friday at the church.

Mrs. McAnlis has been teaching the Balph class for the past year or so and in appreciation for her splendid and faithful services, the class gave her a beautiful gift, Mrs. C. H. Fischer making the presentation.

For the tasty casserole menu served at 1 o'clock, the tables were decorated with fall flowers. Covers were laid for 30 guests, and the committee consisted of Mrs. Perry Brest, Mrs. W. F. McConnell, Mrs. Clyde Shoaff, Mrs. Lola McBride.

Sharing in the pleasures of the afternoon was Mrs. Robert Trimble, of Glen-Osborne, near Sewickley.

Today marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Adams, pioneer residents of New Kensington, and to observe the occasion their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren gathered for a day's celebration.

Going from New Castle this morning for the affair were the couple's oldest son, Louis Adams of Sheridan avenue, who with his wife and four children, George, Howard, Frederick and Lillian will remain over the week-end at their former home.

This evening at 6 o'clock, there will be a family dinner, and this evening, a reception for friends and neighbors.

LINEN SHOWER FOR HELEN M. WILSON

Mrs. Charles A. Crowl and Miss Geraldine Turk were charming hostesses Friday evening to a group of friends in honor of Helen M. Wilson, bride-elect.

The affair, held in the Crowl home on the Butler road, took the nature of a linen shower for the honoree, who received handsome presents. A buffet lunch was the first procedure, and after the dessert had been served the group played bridge at three tables.

Smart favors fell to Misses Martha Muse and Helen Wilson. The galloping trophy was carried home by Mrs. Ralph Cooper.

SOROSIS LUNCHEON ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Along with the regular opening of the fall and winter club season, Sorosis held its first meeting in the form of a luncheon downtown on Friday, at which there were present some twenty guests. Included in this number were two visitors, Mrs. H. R. McCulloch, president of the Lawrence County Federation, and Miss Harriet Woods.

After the women had enjoyed a most delectable menu, a short business session was held over which Mrs. George White presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Roy M. Jamison.

Afterwards, Mrs. McCulloch talked informally about federation work, accomplishments of the past and plans for the future. A literary contest featured in which Mrs. Roy W. Hazen and Miss Harriet Woods won distinction.

The event was most enjoyable, praise being heard from the committee in charge consisting of Mrs. E. D. Marvin, Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, Mrs. Benjamin Beisel, Mrs. Thomas A. Clark, Mrs. A. G. Murphy, Mrs. F. R. Woods, constituting the program committee distributing new year books yesterday.

October 23 is the date of the next meeting with Mrs. J. G. Berry, Hazelcroft avenue.

BRIDE AND GROOM HONORED AT SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. John Untch, the former Maryetta Dickson, whose marriage took place in September, were honored Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Kenneth Irwin and Mrs. Philip Dickson, at the former's home on Wurtemburg Heights.

The young couple received beautiful and useful gifts, the occasion being made more humorous by fitting remarks made by Bernhard Welker as the presentations were made. After pleasure and appreciation for this delightful gesture of friendship had been expressed by the recipients, the guests, numbering 26, seated themselves about small tables for cards.

Prizes in 500 were captured by Randall Space of New Castle and Whelan Hopper of Mt. Jackson, bridge, Mervin Haines and Mrs. John Untch. Aides to the hostesses in serving a buffet lunch were Mrs. U. D. Hunter and Mrs. C. S. Dickson, the latter the bride's mother.

MRS. HARRIS FETED AT LOVELY PARTIES

Climaxing a series of lovely parties which have been given for Mrs. David G. Harris, of Garfield avenue, who will leave Monday to join Mr. Harris in Youngstown where the family will reside, neighbors on Garfield avenue held a party at the home of Mrs. Harry Cranmer, Friday evening.

About 20 guests were present and they presented the guest of honor with a handsome onyx lamp. Mrs. David Harris, Sr., who will make her home with another son, Harry G. Harris of Garfield avenue, in the future, was also given a very lovely remembrance from the group.

Aides in serving a delightful luncheon were Mrs. Howard Burr and Mrs. Russell Rhodes.

In Youngstown, the Harris family will be located at 2135 Elm street.

MERRY WIDOWS CLUB ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

A delicious lunch was served associates of the Merry Widows club Friday evening at the close of the bridge contest held at the home of Mrs. Russell McClelland, North street, hostess. The event was their usual bi-weekly assembly, and a special guest, Mrs. James Hill, sister of the hostess, assisted with the menu. A period of conversation ensued.

Those winning prizes for card honors included Mrs. Dean Staley, Mrs. Russell McClelland and Mrs. Neil Sturdy.

Mrs. Opra McCoy of Winslow avenue will entertain members at her residence on October 23.

PRI-DU-NURSES CLUB HAS EVENING ASSEMBLY

Another enjoyable meeting was added to the annals of the Pri-Du Nurses club Thursday evening when they assembled in the social rooms of the nurses home of the New Castle hospital for their usual meeting.

A social time opened the program, with cards holding sway. Misses Esther Reynolds, Leola Cutler, Cecil Hood and Marie Grotelend were the fortunate winners of the honor score prizes. Later, refreshments were served by Grace Morrissey, Ruth Taylor and Dorothy Williams.

During the business procedure, plans for a Halloween party were discussed. A committee was appointed on arrangements, composed of Esther Reynolds, Kathryn Shaffer and Cecil Hood. The full details will be announced later.

PERKINS-THORNTON ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Mrs. Arthur Baldwin entertained a group of friends numbering sixteen, at an informal party in the home of Mrs. K. G. Walter, of East Lutton street, Friday evening, to announce the forthcoming marriage of her sister, Miss Hilda Perkins, to George Thornton, Jr.

Four tables of cards were in play, with honors being awarded Mrs. Jas. McCart and Miss Melvina Tubbs. At a fitting time the guests were ushered into the candle lighted dining room and seated at a beautifully appointed table with yellow daisies used as a centerpiece and tall blue candles at each end of the table. The engagement news "Perk and Shorty"—October 15" was revealed in the form of a small note hidden in the center of yellow rosebuds. The hostess had as her aides in serving, Mrs. K. G. Walter and Mrs. Samuel Baldwin.

Miss Perkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Perkins, of Round street, and Mr. Thornton the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thornton, Sr. of Sheridan avenue.

What Does Stalin Mean?
Ciani, Able Young Man.
England Kindly Advices.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS COUNTRY has the honor of establishing the first real trans-Pacific flying service. The China Clipper, with six passengers, seven in crew, left California on Wednesday, is expected in Manila October 16, an 8,200 trip.

The great ship ran along the surface of San Francisco bay for 59 seconds, then lifted its 26 tons into the air, climbed easily and swiftly, up 9,000 feet, nine times as high as the tallest building on earth, then flattened out, and roared away toward Asia at 140 miles an hour.

What that ship does now in ten days others will do later in one day. Write that on your tablets, and Asia will come this way, at the same speed.

A DELICATE situation in Europe: Stalin says that if Italy and Germany continue sending airplanes, ammunition, etc., to the Spanish insurgents, he, Stalin, will help Madrid.

From Stalin, this means more than a mere ending of the neutral- (Continued On Page Six)

THE SCARED CAT
THE SCARED CAT wishes he'd never been born.

The Scared Cat may look like a normal, strong, brave human being, but he's scared of life and everything in it.

His blood turns to water at the prospect of making a decision, and even after he makes the decision he worries about its outcome.

Sometimes he was born a Scared Cat, sometimes he was made into one. In either case, he helps the process along with all the cunning, the ingenuity that is in him. . . . Myself, I think he enjoys the trembles, he likes that shivery feeling of being afraid.

Trouble is joy has been left out of him, out of the recipe, out of his specifications for being a human being.

And joy is the best part of us human creatures.

A man (or a woman), who is NOT a Scared Cat, rather likes being in a jam.

It gives him a chance to discover, in the heat and turmoil of conflict, whether he is what he ought to be. Gives him the opportunity to say, "Let's see if I can work my way out of this business; see if I am as dumb, as weak, as cowardly, as ineffective as perhaps I am. Let's see, once and for all, what's in me, anyway."

There's a kind of joy in that, and sometimes out of such trouble a man wins self-respect, a joyful recognition of what he really is.

I used to know a man who told me that to him, forever, the war was a great help. "I went into it," he said, "scared of what was going to happen to me. As I was scared a lot of times, too. I was hungry, tired, discouraged, furious and I suffered like hell. Sometimes, even now, I have horrible dreams or what happened to me in that war. I hated it and still hate it. And I think war is too ghastly a price to pay for the little men get out of it. . . . But I did learn that, though I was often afraid I was not a coward. And that knowledge has never ceased to help me."

That man learned he was no Scared Cat. . . . It's a great thing to learn that. It's a terrible thing to suspect you're a Scared Cat and be afraid to test your suspicion. It takes all the joy out of life.

FAVOR

When I was young and handsome and just starting out like you, An eager cub reporter, thinking, oh, so much I knew. I fancied it was pleasant to get passes for a show And circuses and concerts and not have to pay to go; But soon or late those fellows always came around to ask: I was not a coward. And that knowledge has never ceased to help me."

It seemed nice upon the minute, since my weekly wage was small To be passed right by the doorman and not asked to pay at all. But it wasn't quite so pleasant, as I soon began to learn. When they started in to ask me every favor to return. Soon or late it always happened! In would come some chap I knew And demand of me a favor which I had no right to do.

There's no easy way of living if your self-respect you'd keep; Never sow the seeds of favors, or a sorry crop you'll reap. Buy your tickets at the window; earn the money that you spend; Keep your collars free from neckties that the flattering schemers send.

Just remember what I tell you, once a favor you request You've assumed an obligation you may later on detest.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:40; sun rises tomorrow 5:59.

Just what mental effect publicity may have on you depends upon what you have been doing.

Ole—Do you believe that people can be talked to death? Moley—The census figures prove that they can, and are. The female population average nearly two years older than the masculine. So that proves that the women must out-stay the men.

Maybe it's because politicians have changed the old adage to read: "Never cross a bridge until it collapses," that you see so many of them swapping horses in the middle of the stream.

On some men it isn't necessary for the goatee to change its location to look out of place.

In Italy the black shirt is almost the ruin of the laundry business.

LOOKED LIKE THE PRESIDENT BUT HE NEEDN'T FLATTER HIMSELF

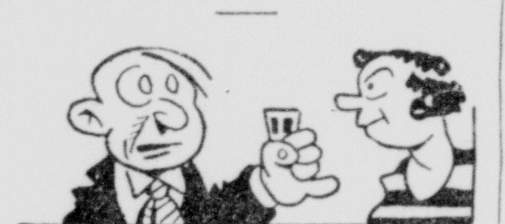

While sitting at a hotel table in the South an aged Southern lady learned over in a burst of confidence to a man sitting opposite to her and said: "Do you know, sir, you remind me a powerful sight of President Wilson, whose family I long have known."

"You flatter me," was the man's answer. "Oh, don't flatter yourself, sir," continued the old lady. "The President is no great shucks for beauty, let me tell you."

The flapper who gets a peak at a diary her grandmother kept as a girl is amazed at the simple things that thrilled her.

An anonymous political communication don't have any more weight than the writer of it—and that's nothing.

It isn't any trouble for a bachelor to cook his own meals. The trouble is to eat them.

The two things people use to avoid thinking and forget their troubles are booze and bridge.

A noted surgeon says that surgery can relieve blood pressure. If that is true, it is going to do away with a lot of worry.

Old Jack Frost looks on and chuckles. As he sells his wares of brown, yellow, red, and various colors—Everything he has in town; Trees from mountains, hills, and valleys Have gone in with haste to buy From Jack's store of richest garments.

For the autumn days are nigh. Oaks and maples vie together To surpass the neighboring trees; Gaily dressed, they have a party Long before the winter freeze; For they know in autumn's passing They must stand unclad till spring.

So they "dress up" ever knowing Every leaf must have its fling.

Cedar, fir, and holly chuckle. As their neighbors dress and strut—Evergreen is to their liking— They prefer the same old rut: "What's the use," they say, "of dressing Every leaf in colors gay? We live only to bring joy To all people Christmas Day."

The state police of Pennsylvania are going to arrest those in overloaded automobiles. Some cars goling to football games have seven or eight in a front seat and that many more in a back seat if there is a back seat. Overloaded automobiles have caused a lot of deaths and accidents and in many cases the violators have suffered the most.

It's all right to dream you dwell in marble halls even though you never get any further than a tiled bathroom.

Over one hundred motorists were arrested in one day for speeding over the Butler-Pittsburgh highway. That will at least slow up the racers who had to pay part of the $1400 taken that day. Fines 'em makes them think if they have anything to think with.

The bare leg fashion got its start from the flapper who said: "If I can't have silk stockings I won't have any."

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES
If you have heard this—skip it. A Scotchman went into a telephone office to send a wire, and was told that he had to pay for his message, but that his name went free. He taught it over for a while, and then said in a broad Scottish accent: "Ye may or may not think it, but I'm an Indian and my name is: 'I won't be home till Saturday.'"

It was the busy hour at the Busy Bee quick lunch stand. The overworked waitress demanded: "Tea or coffee?"

The fresh young man smiled pleasantly at her and murmured: "Don't tell me. Let me guess."

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR Miss Markel—Who takes the initiative in leaving the table when dinner is over? Is it permissible to leave the table during a dinner party? M. L. P.

Answer—The hostess, seeing that everyone has finished, should rise first. Her guests then follow her. The women should proceed and the men follow or remain at the table for their cigars and liquor, depending upon the formality of the occasion.

Never leave the table at such a function unless it is absolutely necessary. In this latter case say to your hostess: "May I be excused?"

The men, of course, should rise when a woman leaves the table. When she returns they should rise again, the one nearest her place holding her chair for her if there is no servant present to thus assist her.

Dear Miss Markel—Is it permissible to have both maid and matron-of-honor? E. W.

Answer—Since the maid or matron of honor stands by the bride's left side and takes care of her bouquet during the ceremony and adjusts her train and veil before she leaves the altar, there is no need for two such attendants. The other attendant, if any, are bridesmaids.

There should be either a maid or a matron of honor, but not both.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader inclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

The World At A Glance

Tippecanoe And Tyler Too.
Hot Campaign Of 1840 Recalled.
Whigs Had No Platform That Year.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

THE CAMPAIGN of the Whigs in 1840 was unique. The Whigs decided to have no platform, neither to tell where they stood on any question, but to go before the people as a party which would bring back prosperity.

President Martin Van Buren, "heir" to Andrew Jackson, had to bear the full brunt of a depression during his entire term.

A goodly part of that depression was due to Jackson's pulling down of the pillars of the temple of finance in order to drive out the money-changers. Yet, modern economists are beginning to say that this post-Jackson depression might have been one of the recurrent "capitalistic depressions," which the government inadvertently made deeper than usual by its efforts to bring money to all the people through currency inflation.

Martin Van Buren was an able statesman, but he was no modern economist. He struggled through that terrible depression with only one thought in mind—that the government must establish its own treasury for its own store of wealth. For three years he battled congress in order to have that bill passed. It was in 1840. In the meantime the country had been permitted to drift, to permit "natural forces" to set finances aright. "Natural forces" failed to act. And inflation of currency merely added to the misery.

WHIGS' OPPORTUNITY
The Whigs finally saw their opportunity.

Nicholas Biddle, who was president of the now suppressed Bank of the United States, connived with Whig political leaders to restore the Hamiltonian system of government and finance, as against Jeffersonianism and Jacksonism. First, the government must be won. A figure around whom a popular appeal could be spun must be found.

He was found—in the person of General William Henry Harrison, of Ohio, an old warrior called from his farm. He had beaten Indians at the Battle of Tippecanoe and likewise had served with distinction in the War of 1812. He had no deep political convictions.

To unite north and south with their ticket, the Whigs nominated John Tyler of Virginia for vice president. Tyler did have some political opinions—ones which were to be unfortunate for the Whigs—was to the effect that a renewed Bank of the United States would be unpopular throughout the nation.

Why a vice president's views should be important at all, we shall explain later.

HIS MOUTH KEPT SHUT
Biddle, still the ruling financial power, outlined the Whig party campaign to party leaders in this letter:

"If Genl. Harrison is taken up as a candidate, it will be on account of the past. . . . Let him say not one word about his principles, or his creed—let him say nothing—promise nothing. Let no committee, ever extract from him a single word about what he thinks now or will do here after. Let the use of pen and ink be wholly forbidden."

Thus, the campaign was built, not on a solemn discussion of questions, but on hero worship, emotion and hate.

"Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" became the campaign cry—an excellent one.

Sedate President Van Buren, a man of liberal thought, even if an aristocrat, had no cry to offer in return to the hungry horde of financiers, who put forth as their front this old general snatched from his Ohio farm.

Van Buren, Indiana was described as a lordly old gentleman, living in luxury, who "soon was to die of the gout."

Daniel Webster joined in the calumnies—for such they have been proved to be. It was another disgusting campaign.

Then Fate stepped in. President Harrison died soon after his inauguration. Not Van Buren, but the Whigs' own man had died. John Tyler, the southerner, became president.

And the Whigs soon were marching straight to their doom.

And the Whigs soon were marching straight to their doom.

NARROW VICTORY
At that, the Whigs won by merely a small majority of the popular vote—General Harrison receiving 46,000 more votes than President Van Buren out of a total of nearly 2,500,000. The electoral vote, however, was a different matter—234 to 60. The Whigs had won their votes where they counted.

As soon as the Whigs got into office in 1841 the mask was off. They immediately set about to restore the money interests to power. Then Fate stepped in. President Harrison died soon after his inauguration. Not Van Buren, but the Whigs' own man had died. John Tyler, the southerner, became president.

And the Whigs soon were marching straight to their doom.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PERHAPS

A leaden coffin containing a skeleton which may be that of Richard III, was found during the excavation for the new wing of the Leicester College of Arts and Technology in England, built on the site of the former church of St. Mary of the Newarks. The church was built by Henry Duke of Lancaster, in 1353, and was destroyed during the Reformation.

Richard III, was killed at the Battle of Bosworth in 1485. It was understood that he was buried in this church, but historians have recorded that later his body was unearthed and his bones thrown by a mob over Row bridge into the river.

L. W. Kershaw, principal of the college, says the skull of the skeleton has a receding forehead and a projecting jaw, the attributes of King Richard.

SOME CHURCHES OBSERVE RALLY DAY SUNDAY

Advance Guard Comes Monday

First Arrivals For State Convention To Reach City Over Week End

CONVENTION WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY

The advance guard of the 74th Convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, which is to be held at the Cathedral New Castle, October 14, 15 and 16, will arrive Monday in time for final arrangement for the local entertainment.

The convention headquarters will be the Cathedral and the hotel headquarters will be The Castleton. Delegates will commence arriving Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday evening and special arrangements will be made to register these delegates and assign them to homes. The largest number of delegates, however, will arrive Wednesday morning, and perhaps the largest attendance will be on Thursday when large delegations will be sent from Butler, Mercer and Beaver counties.

It is thought that every county in the State will be represented with delegates, and every county has a certain quota to reach. Programs and other publicity material have been mailed to every minister and Sabbath school superintendent in Pennsylvania, and this will doubtless be one of the largest, if not the largest, convention of its kind ever held in the State.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath will issue a proclamation requesting that the street flags be displayed while the convention is in session, and this movement is being endorsed by the merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Arrows on all the highways leading into New Castle will direct the delegates to The Cathedral, and the trains will be met by the automobiles furnished by the committee in charge of Ray F. Hall.

For the convenience of the women delegates, a special room is being furnished by a committee in charge of Mrs. Frank L. Kelly, and in this room tables and accommodations will be furnished for those wishing to write postals or notes, and there will be nurses on hand at all times. Six Boy Scouts will be on duty in the morning, six in the afternoon and six in the evening.

The merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce is also furnishing red, white and blue welcome cards, to be displayed in the windows of the local merchants and business houses.

Taken as a whole New Castle is doing all that is humanly possible to entertain this splendid group of Christian workers in the manner that has gained for it the reputation of being a very hospitable city.

Highland Church Having Rally Day

Expect Big Crowd At First Baptist

Goal Of Attendance 908; C. W. Herman Hess Will Be Guest Speaker

C. W. HERMAN HESS

Climaxing an extensive campaign in which 700 members were contacted and invited to attend, a gigantic rally day service is planned for Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church.

C. W. Herman Hess, a member of St. John's Lutheran church, who has an excellent knowledge of Sunday school work, has been invited to be the guest speaker. He will have as the theme of his address, "The Plan and Purpose of Rally Day—Then What?" All departments will meet together in the church auditorium and Sunday school room at 9:30. The goal set for the attendance is 908.

Paul D. Weller, superintendent, announces that a new award system will be inaugurated in the First Baptist Sunday school tomorrow. Each member present will be given a gold plated star and a perfect attendance record is made during the quarter year this will be exchanged for a silver pin. As the record continues, the student will be given a rolled gold and enamel pin, bronze crown, silver crown, etc.

Central Christian Rally Day Program

Special Services In Observance Of Rally Day Are Planned For Sunday

A pageant, "Gates of Pearl," will be presented Sunday morning during the Bible School hour, 9:45 a. m., at the Central Christian church, and rally day will be observed at all services throughout the day.

Albert Bauman, Jr., will be in charge of the music at the Bible School hour and Miss Mildred Cowmeadow will be the accompanist. Dorothy Frey will offer a vocal solo and James Davis will give a violin solo.

The morning worship and communion service will be at 10:45 o'clock and the sermon subject will be "Goals and How To Attain Them." Special music by the choir, under the direction of Dave Lewis, with Miss Cowmeadow as accompanist.

There will be a basket dinner at noon, a fellowship meeting at 2:30 p. m. to which ministers of surrounding churches have been invited to take part, an organization meeting of the Young People's society, Junior and Intermediate Christian Endeavor societies, at 6:30 p. m., and the regular evening service at 7:30, with "Seeing Jesus" as the subject of Rev. T. B. Shearer's sermon.

Class Will Have Charge Of Service

Sunday evening at 7:30 the members of the Johanson-Powell class will have charge of the service in the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle at 210 Pearson street. The members of the class have arranged a special program of speaking for this service. It will be as follows:

Congregational singing led by Harry Polding.

Class Testimonies; Scripture reading, Arnold Blews.

Solo, Russell Hagerty.

Ten minute message by James Taylor.

Special numbers by the class quartet.

Main message of the evening by a member of the class.

This service is being held in the absence of the pastor who is out of town. During the morning service Rev. Arthur T. Williams of the Gospel Tabernacle will preside.

Convention Choir To Have Rehearsal

The convention choir, which will be under the direction of Prof. John W. Owens, of Sharon, will hold a rehearsal at the First Baptist church, corner East and North streets, New Castle, Sunday afternoon, October 11 at three o'clock. Announcements concerning the service of song that is to be furnished the convention will be made and special numbers from the convention song book will be rehearsed.

It is hoped that the Sabbath schools from all over the county will furnish the number of singers requested of them.

The News, By Mail, One Year, $5.00.

EAST SIDE UNION

In the charming Maryland avenue home of Mrs. John Walters members of the East Side W. C. T. U. were delightfully entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Thursday afternoon. Covers were laid for 22 at tables tastefully decorated with Fall flowers.

Following the luncheon a splendid program was given in charge of the executive committee. Devotions were led by Mrs. Floyd Moore, prayer was offered by Mrs. Abe Kildoo, and Mrs. Clara Lutz delighted her audience by giving two beautiful vocal numbers accompanied by Mrs. Manly Bates. Mrs. Pherson then gave a very instructive talk on "Temperance Light Bearer Work" and Miss Martha Dodd gave interesting last minute news of the temperance work and general information on the W. C. T. U. program for the year.

After these splendid addresses the union joined in singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." The president, Mrs. Moore, then took charge of the business meeting. Reports of the different committees were accepted. The membership committee is planning a drive, the losing side to entertain the winners. A Loyal Temperance Light-Bearers organization, as an auxiliary to the East Side union will be organized in the near future.

In addition to the speakers of the day, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Hockenberry were special guests.

The next regular meeting will be on Thursday evening, November 12, at 7 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Floyd Moore, Beckford street.

ity agreement by which European troops agreed to let Spain fight it out with no outside help.

STALIN, whatever his other weaknesses, does not act hastily, possessing the cunning that has distinguished other Russian rulers before him. When he sent his first ambassador to Japan he ordered:

"Remember that the Japanese know at least as much as you know. Keep your mouth shut and listen."

Stalin kept his mouth shut and listened during the week of the Nazi celebration, when German orators from Hitler down were denouncing him.

Warning Germany and Italy that "if you don't stop helping the Spanish insurgents, I shall help the Madrid government," Stalin means that if Italy and Germany want a fight they may have it, and when he says that, it means that he thinks he is READY, not only ready for Germany and Italy on the west, but also Japan on the east.

Stalin has the biggest standing army in the world, and perhaps the biggest air fleet in the world. His treatment of enemies in Russia, throwing out the powerful Trotsky as though he were a sick kitten, shooting down his political opponents in batches of 16, proves ability to act with decision.

He knows that the war will be half won by the aggressor that first successfully bombs the enemy's principal city.

ROME BELIEVES that Mussolini expects his son-in-law, Ciano, to succeed him as ruler of Italy and plans soon to put him in his place as prime minister of Italy. Mussolini, naturally, remaining as Duce while he lives. Ciano is only 33, but older than Alexander was when he conquered the earth, older than Napoleon when he made himself emperor and had kings waiting in his ante-room.

This writer recently met Ciano at dinner in Rome, and thought him an able young man. He has clear piercing, very cold blue eyes, talked entertainingly, intelligently, about everything, except himself and his father-in-law.

Asked how it felt to fly as he had done constantly in a bombing plane over the mountains and jungles of Ethiopia, he replied with a pleasant smile in good English, "O, most interesting, yes, really very interesting," and said nothing else about his accomplishments in the war. He listens always, an important indication.

THIS COUNTRY proposes to fortify its island possessions in the Pacific as thoroughly as Japan fortifies Pacific points that she controls, including "mandated" territory.

England, having finished her fortifying job, making Japan and the rest of Asia thoughtful with her great fortifications at Singapore, urges the United States and Japan to stop fortifying. There is no better adviser than dear old England.

Washington reports "the American government has not indicated whether it will adopt England's suggestion."

PERHAPS ON this occasion the United States will discover somebody on this side of the Atlantic with a suggestion worth adopting for a change.

In that case, the United States would say to England "You attend to your affairs and we shall try to attend to ours, and show you seven or eight places in the Pacific ocean between San Francisco and Manila with fortifications and air bases that will interest you."

Japan, as usual, will do exactly as she chooses. She doesn't ask advice, does not hear it, does always as she thinks best FOR JAPAN.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Commissions May Be Ended

Senate's Economy Probe
May Force End To Bureaucracy In Government

HAVE ADDED TO CABINET POSTS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—At the last session of congress a committee, under Senator Harry F. Byrd's chairmanship, was appointed, to consider plans for compacting the federal government into smaller compass, in the interest of efficiency as well as economy.

The tendency of the government's executive branches, commissions, boards and miscellaneous establishments and sub-establishments is to multiply in number constantly, and to expand in size.

This has been going on throughout the whole history of the United States. The desirability of weeding out redundancy has been suggested again and again, but nothing actually has been done. Finally, under the present administration, governmental hypertrophy has become simply rampant, and it was decided that action to counteract it was imperative.

Hence Senator Byrd's committee, to formulate a program.

TOO MANY CABINET POSTS?

For example, Uncle Sam started business with five cabinet departments.

Now there are ten.

From time to time statesmen have proposed that the war and navy departments, illustratively, advantageously could be merged into a single department of national defense.

Congressional arguments also have been advanced in favor of combining the agriculture and labor departments, as they were combined originally.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, upon retiring, expressed the opinion that his department had outlived its usefulness. Public lands, he said, were all gone; not enough Indians survived to amount to anything. Why perpetuate a ministry in charge of these dead-and-gone functions? Secretary Ickes, to be sure, considers his department by no means obsolete, but his predecessor did.

Anyway, here are at least three cabinet curtailments which some experienced authorities thought might profitably be effected.

A NEW CABINET POST?

Well, Senator Byrd's committee got busy.

It has not made its report yet, but already there have been a sufficient number of leaks from various of its members to insure this:

Its recommendation will not favor the abolition of any cabinet department or departments. Instead it probably will favor the creation of public welfare.

The notion may be all right. Public welfare's job will be to take care of relief, education, of preservation of national good health, etc.

ONE COMMISSION ENDED

Undoubtedly all these tasks need to be attended to.

Nevertheless, the trend of the Byrd committee's investigations toward their conclusion is characteristic. Every time an attempt is made in the direction of governmental curtailment it ends in an increase.

In modern years, only one government body ever was abolished. That was the national screw thread commission. It was a war era organization, set up to standardize screw threads. Its members were unsalaried, which made a deal of difference. And it hung on for a dozen years or more after the war, at that. Meanwhile, pending its abolition, other, salaried commissions had been created by the score.

Still whenever it is charged that a government setup once launched, is launched into eternal life, the official answer is:

"The national screw thread commission was abolished, wasn't it?"

STEEN AT CONVENTION

Postmaster Richard A. Steen, together with postmasters from all over the state, was a participant Friday in the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Postmasters' association at Pittsburgh.

Correct this sentence: "I'd rather go to bed for two days and get rid of a cold," said he, "than to let it hang on for a month."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NOT GOOD AT BOOKS

THERE IS a vast deal of suffering by children and their parents because these parents expect their child to do as well at school as his cousin or some other relative.

Writes a mother, of her adolescent boy who does not get on well at books:

"But always the thought comes—why, O why must we who 'want' our child, be forced to see him slip back while his cousins all go forward? . . . We play games with him and allow him to have his chums come in often. . . . We try to give him a little of everything, and yet it is so discouraging to feel one is such a failure as a parent."

Earlier in the letter she writes: "My husband had eight grades and I seven, so we did want so badly to give our child a chance. He has always been slow or rather LOW in his grades, and this year, ninth, he isn't making it. . . . We tried to interest him in music but. . . . At home he is just the same until he finds something in the line of tools—mechanics of one kind or another, and then no more restlessness or inattention. . . . So in spite of a good band leader we gave up the music and gave him a tool shop of his own. Manual training is such pleasure for him and science—he just devours it! Good marks in spelling and drawing, I try to help him in English.

"But his mathematics is what worries me. He might get help from other pupils, but he is so bashful and is afraid to ask for help. . . . I've asked his English teacher to help him, but she says, 'When I offer her extra pay for extra hours'."

"Here I want to add our child has never had a mark for dishonesty or copying. His teacher told me he was a 'square shooter'. So in spite of the tears that fall in the dishpan he has some points in his favor. He isn't at all afraid to ask or tell me anything at all concerning sex problems. Above all I want him to be a clean, honest young man. We would so like to have him finish high school. . . ."

While we regret that this mother compares her son with his cousins who do better in books, we rejoice that she shows so much insight and good sense in other directions. Many other mothers might envy her. Could all the learning of the world compare in worth to the qualities of character this lad seems to possess? It looks as if it also has pretty good mental stuff which ought to challenge his teachers. And let us hope this mother gets it out of her head that she has not been a very good mother.

tained a few friends Sunday as a surprise for her mother, Mrs. Emily Palomaki.

Mrs. Curtis Wilson, who has been a patient at the Youngstown hospital for some time, will be brought home Monday.

Mrs. Joe Knoll and daughter, Mrs. Harry Googe, called on the former's daughter, Mrs. Allen Aeplil, at the Youngstown hospital Tuesday.

Friends of Mrs. Allen Aeplil of Struthers, O., will be sorry to know she is a patient in the Youngstown hospital, having undergone a goiter operation.

Services at Mahoning church were largely attended when Rev. Ray Woodburn of Mt. Jackson brought the message of the evening. The girls' choir of Struthers, O. U. P. church, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Carson, furnished the music.

Mrs. Alfred Graham was among a group of ladies entertained at a luncheon Monday at The Castleton as a guest of Mrs. Ruth Henderson, Struthers, O., and later attending the theater. Mrs. Henderson was pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Graham, in behalf of the guests, presented her with a beautiful purse and caserole to remind her of her birthday.

Orchestra Gives Program At Party Of Scottish Rite

Fall Season Is Opened With Good Program Of Entertainment At Cathedral

Last evening's party at The Cathedral, the first of the series for this fall and winter arranged by the entertainment committee of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, was featured by a special program of concert music by the Cathedral orchestra, under the direction of Harry Hammond and Ben Shulansky.

The program was preceded by a splendid dinner, when Percy L. MacNab, former local man, now of Los Angeles, Calif., led in the pep singing and introduced several new songs to the audience.

Later in the evening, cards and dancing were enjoyed by the group. In spite of adverse weather conditions, around 250 were present and the occasion was a most enjoyable one.

County Commissioners George Bolinger and Floyd Cotton have returned from Easton, Pa., where they attended a convention of poor directors of the state. Different methods of taking care of the relief situations were the main topics discussed. Most of the counties are handling the situation much the same as Lawrence, but there are still a number of counties in the state where the old system of poor directors is still in vogue. Russell E. H. Romberger of Dauphin county was elected president for the ensuing year. Howard Hunter of Beaver county, secretary, and Earl Dreves of Mercer county, treasurer. Seven vice presidents and two assistant secretaries were also elected.

Last Chance To Get Reservations

Busy Time Expected In Sunday Schools Of County Tomorrow

Sunday schools all over Lawrence county will have a busy time tomorrow, October 11, for this will be the last opportunity to sell reservations to the 74th convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association which will be held at the Cathedral, New Castle, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The money from the registrations, together with the stubs of the receipt books, must be left at room 208-9 Lawrence Savings and Trust building, Monday, October 12. If for any reason it cannot be delivered during the day it can be brought to the Cathedral at 7:30 Monday evening.

The local registration at the convention will be in charge of William McElwee, Jr., and either a receipt or a one dollar bill must be presented to him for registering. It may be that some from Lawrence county have not had an opportunity to register, and if so this can be done Wednesday morning or anytime during the convention by calling at the Lawrence county table and paying the registration fee.

All Sunday school superintendents are urged to encourage the registration of full quota of delegates Sunday. This will entitle delegate to convention badge which admits to all sessions, convention song book, hand book and program, a year's subscription to the Pennsylvania Herald and other interesting material including a convention note book.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS AT CROTON CHURCH

Rev. Alexander H. Kemp, M. D., medical missionary of the Methodist church, in Angola, Central Africa, was heard by a large audience at the Croton Avenue M. E. church last evening, and gave an interesting account of his experiences.

Following Dr. Kemp's address, the first quarterly conference was conducted with Dr. Thomas E. Colley, of Grove City district superintendent, presiding.

The tendency of the government's executive branches, commissions, boards and miscellaneous establishments and sub-establishments is to multiply in number constantly, and to expand in size.

This has been going on throughout the whole history of the United States. The desirability of weeding out redundancy has been suggested again and again, but nothing actually has been done. Finally, under the present administration, governmental hypertrophy has become simply rampant, and it was decided that action to counteract it was imperative.

Hence Senator Byrd's committee, to formulate a program.

TOO MANY CABINET POSTS?

For example, Uncle Sam started business with five cabinet departments.

Now there are ten.

From time to time statesmen have proposed that the war and navy departments, illustratively, advantageously could be merged into a single department of national defense.

Congressional arguments also have been advanced in favor of combining the agriculture and labor departments, as they were combined originally.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, upon retiring, expressed the opinion that his department had outlived its usefulness. Public lands, he said, were all gone; not enough Indians survived to amount to anything. Why perpetuate a ministry in charge of these dead-and-gone functions? Secretary Ickes, to be sure, considers his department by no means obsolete, but his predecessor did.

Anyway, here are at least three cabinet curtailments which some experienced authorities thought might profitably be effected.

A NEW CABINET POST?

Well, Senator Byrd's committee got busy.

It has not made its report yet, but already there have been a sufficient number of leaks from various of its members to insure this:

Its recommendation will not favor the abolition of any cabinet department or departments. Instead it probably will favor the creation of public welfare.

The notion may be all right. Public welfare's job will be to take care of relief, education, of preservation of national good health, etc.

ONE COMMISSION ENDED

Undoubtedly all these tasks need to be attended to.

Nevertheless, the trend of the Byrd committee's investigations toward their conclusion is characteristic. Every time an attempt is made in the direction of governmental curtailment it ends in an increase.

In modern years, only one government body ever was abolished. That was the national screw thread commission. It was a war era organization, set up to standardize screw threads. Its members were unsalaried, which made a deal of difference. And it hung on for a dozen years or more after the war, at that. Meanwhile, pending its abolition, other

Fans Await Boxing Bouts Monday Night

Eight Bouts Are Carded For Arena Garden, Neshannock Avenue; Gray Meets Goodballet, Mayne Battles Sharff And Rubin Opposes Ward; Ellwood City Boxers Also Scheduled For Action.

Forty-eight hours hence, in the arena gardens, Neshannock avenue, fans will collect to see some of the punchiest boxers in the amateur boxing ranks display their fists and when the show is over no doubt the fans having relished the return of the fighters will look forward to another pugilistic entertainment.

During the past week or more approximately a score of fighters have been in training, hopeful they will be matched for the Monday night scraps. Of the score approximately 16 or 18 have been docketed for action and among them are some of the better known amateurs of this district—especially the middleweight slammers, Ray Gray and Keith Goodballet.

Ray is a New Castle fighter, tutored by Dr. Williams of the South Side. Goodballet hails from East Liverpool and is handled by Don Trotter, a renowned figure in amateur fight ranks. Trotter will also second Bob McShane, another Ohio middleweight while Paddy Grimes of Alliquippa hopes to see his protégé Buzz Schmidt of Beaver Falls "cop" over McShane.

On the docket are two heavyweights—bitter rivals; namely Ernie Sharff of Beaver Falls, weight 215 and height six feet four inches and Jimmie Mayne, New Brighton, weight 200 and height, six feet one inch. According to reports from the Beaver Valley, the fight will follow them to the battle here in the hope of seeing lots of pyrotechnics.

Will Select Winner
Jimmie Dime will pick the winner of this scrap and try to drill him to such a degree that he will come day be up among the Schmellings, Louises, Ettores and other well known heavyweights. Dime will also be present to second his light-heavyweight scrapper, Mickie Rubin against George Ward of Chester W. Va.

Cy Llewellyn, a former New Castle boy, is bringing Ward here. The latter has had some seasoning and Rubin can look for a grueling bout. Rubin fought a slam-bang fight in the police show in July and several weeks ago kept the fans on their toes when he punched for punch with Willie Davies, husky colored boy at the Field club outing.

Evan Evans, a flashy featherweight from Lisbon is docketed against rugged Ted Blasak of Beaver Falls; Cy Hawkins, Ellwood City will meet Lefty Graham, of East Liverpool and Alex Lawn, one of Ellwood City's numerous good amateurs will oppose Frankie Markusin of Alliquippa. The latter beat Lawn the last time the met and Alex hopes to win.

The boxing show will be in charge of Commissioner McClelland's deputy, B. J. Biondi, of this city. The matches were made by Ed Fritz. The referees and judges will be from New Castle and indications are that Arena Garden, Neshannock avenue, at 8:15 p. m. Monday will be filled.

Franklin High Trips Campbell

Ben Franklins Win 7 To 0 In Tough Battle At Campbell, Ohio Friday

Ben Franklin Junior high school football team went to Campbell, O., yesterday afternoon and defeated the Campbell Junior high team 7 to 0 after a tough engagement. The New Castle touchdown was made by Cennane who fell on the ball back of the goal line.

Neither team was able to gain much ground in the first half of the battle. The first down for the first two periods was 4 to 1 in favor of Franklin. The work of Kuhn, Joseph Colechick featured for the Gillaspiesen in the first half.

Score On Fumble
Franklin tallied in the second half when a fine punt by Sowinski put the Campbell back in the shadows of their goal line. The big fullback dropped back to punt, but fumbled the ball and it rolled over the goal line. Cennane pounced on the ball for the only touchdown of the game.

The extra-point was made on a place kick by Sowinski. Franklin made another threat to score late in the fourth period, after a pass, Sowinski to Motosko had been completed, but the rally was halted by a stiff Campbell line. Ciazza featured the second half with some fine broken field running. The Franklin ends Cennane and Motosko played a bangup game. Tony Moses broke through several times and smeared Campbell backfield men in their tracks. Plonko is fast developing into a capable quarterback.

Next Thursday afternoon the Franklin high team will play the Bessemer High Reserves at Taggart Field. The game will start at 3:45 o'clock.

Leave To See Big Grid Game
Fred Marcella, South Mill street, Frankie Ross, South Jefferson street, Charles Augustine, East Home street, and Alex Pascarella, East Lorion street, departed early this morning for Columbus, Ohio, to witness the Ohio State-Pitt University football game, today.

New Castle High At Washington, Pa.

"Red Hurricane" Leaves Early Today For Scene Of Fifth Game

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, 35 young husky New Castle high school football players, headed by Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Bill Klee, G. Thomas, Paul Cuba and Ralph H. Gardner, steamed out of the city in buses headed for Washington, Pa.

The kickoff was to take place at 2:30 o'clock. From all indications early this morning the game would probably be played in the mud. The teams are battling at the W. & J. Field.

The New Castle team was in fine shape for the game with the exception of DeCaprio, and Covelli.

Troop F Set For Akron Team

Game Sunday At West Washington Street Extension Field Starts At 3 O'clock

Troop F polo team is anxiously awaiting Sunday afternoon when the local riders oppose the Akron Cowboys, on the Troop F field, West Washington street extension. The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

Fans who witness the fracas will see in action for the last time Captain George Mitchell, of Troop F, the founder of polo in New Castle. Mitchell recently resigned his post. The local team loses one of the outstanding polo players in the district. A fast game is predicted.

Draws Small House.
The fight added to Louis' prestige as a one-punch killer but contributed none too lavishly either to the exchequer or the professional repute in general. The receipts, because of the limited seating capacity, the high riding "top" of $511.50 and the recent world series, were not more than $35,000, by a very great deal the smallest "draw" Louis has made since going up in the lights two years ago. Moreover, Brescia was—and still is—a pugilistic trollop with six professional fights.

Nevertheless, he was able to cause Joseph many moments of uneasiness by making the latter do the leading, which was the Schmeling technique last June. Once he seemed to hurt the Negro with a right and left and, again, he just missed with a right that most certainly would have deposited our man upon the dais.

Meantime, he avoided being hit just right by keeping his chin buried under his shoulder. When he took it out, it was all over. Louis caught him behind the ear with a right swing, propping him up, and then followed with the lethal left hook, that being positively that the winner was Louis but the hero was Brescia. He died with his mouth-piece in.

Massillon Wins; Warren Is Loser
Fourteenth Win For Massillon Eleven; Youngstown South Upsets Dope
Massillon high, New Castle's opponent here next Friday night, ran up and down their field for a total of eight touchdowns, a safety and a 37-0 triumph over Akron South, Friday night.

The 1935 Ohio champs ran up their total points for the season to 225 in four games. Massillon's 23 first downs is an indication of its strength.

In one of the surprises of the night, Youngstown South, a former New Castle foe, upset the dope by handing the Warren high gridgers an 8-2 whipping at Youngstown, New Castle plays Warren, at Warren, October 23.

Mowing their way through the line like a giant roller, Union high school's blue and white clad football team annexed an impressive victory over Mars high Friday afternoon at Union township field, as several hundred excited spectators looked on. The final score favored Union 18-0.

In the first period, after an exchange of punts, Union, on a sustained line drive, brought the oval to the 10 where the Scotland Laners fumbled, Mars recovering. The visitors immediately booted, Guinagh returning to the 25. Ostrosky fought his way through the line, bringing the ball to the 19 where he was downed. The Mars line held. Finding the Union line hard as steel, the blue and gold gridgers booted to Union in mid-field. The Mars line proved just as stubborn, and as a result Union kicked to Mars' 12 at the end of the period.

Union Scores.
On a nice drive through the line, Union pushed the ball to the Mars 33. Two plays by Guinagh and Clark through the line netted a first down, as the Union boys continued their goalward march. Ostrosky on a beautiful end run raced to the Mars 9. Ducky Guinagh plowed his way over tackle for six yards, the ball resting on the 3. On two attempts, Ostrosky finally crossed the final chalk mark. Ostrosky missed the try for the extra point via the placement system. Most of the action took place in mid-field during the remainder of the second quarter.

A determined Mars eleven lined up for the last half. After returning the kick-off to the 39, Wood heaved a nice pass to Permanto who gained 15 before being downed. Mars lost the ball on downs. This was the closest the visitors came to scoring. Failing to make substantial gains, Union kicked to safe-

Joe Louis Stops Brescia In Third

GATE RECEIPTS AMOUNT TO $35,000

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—They led a lamb to slaughter last night but miraculously Jorge Brescia, of the Argentine, wasn't soft and woolly and vulnerable to the "kill." He was tough and hard and vicious; in fact, a snarling lamb, which undoubtedly is done by the bass-singing cat, and for more than eight minutes he gave Joe Louis such a fight as to stand 5,000 on their feet, shouting for the big blow to fall.

Then, swiftly, they got it. So did Brescia. It was a beautiful left hook to the chin, as sure as the stroke of a stockyard's axe, and Brescia was no more. He was counted out on the spread of his back in two minutes and 12 seconds of the third round. He might as well have been hit by a bit of paving.

Midway through the count, the still, small voice of returning intelligence asserted itself to the point of getting Brescia off his face and around on his shoulder blades. But there was only one way to get him out of the place before the crowd man came around and turned out the lights for the evening. That was to come and get him.

Draws Small House.

Scotland Laners Romp Off Gridiron With 18-0 Victory, Friday

GAME WELL PLAYED BY BOTH ELEVENS

Mowing their way through the line like a giant roller, Union high school's blue and white clad football team annexed an impressive victory over Mars high Friday afternoon at Union township field, as several hundred excited spectators looked on. The final score favored Union 18-0.

This was the closest the visitors came to scoring. Failing to make substantial gains, Union kicked to safety. After gaining about 5 on two plays, Wood tried the line, fumbled, and McGrew recovered for Union. Three line plays by Guinagh and Ostrosky netted first down and placed the ball on the Mars 21. Witowitz, who was injected into the game earlier in the period, made a nice run around right end, bringing the ball to the 8. Guinagh gained 2 through the line. On the next play, Witowitz, on a reverse, crossed the Mars line for the second touchdown. Union tried a line plunge for the extra point but failed.

In the fourth quarter, Witowitz intercepted a Mars pass on the 30. Jaskolka, another Union sub, ran left end to the Mars 18. Witowitz fought his way through right tackle for 4 yards. Jaskolka pounded the line for a short gain. Guinagh knifed the line, bringing the oval to the 8. Witowitz plunged right tackle to the 3 and on the next play Ducky Guinagh went over for the final score. The game ended with Union in possession of the ball on the Mars 3. The game was fast throughout.

For Union, the playing of Guinagh, Witowitz and Ostrosky featured. Bentley and King played well on the line. Bruce, Wood and Permanto were Mars' outstanding players. Union made 18 first downs to one for their foes. Richards, Hoskins and Rugh officiated a good game.

Crusaders Plan For Progressive Dinner

Christian Church Class Plan Dinner At Friday Meeting

Members of the Crusaders class of the Madison avenue Christian church, spent an enjoyable evening, Friday, as they gathered at the home of Grace Kelley, Fairmont avenue, for their regular monthly meeting. Fourteen members were present.

Devotions were led by Ed Bevan. The president, Robert Park, presided over a short business, during which plans were completed for a progressive dinner to be held on October 30. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements: Lucile McGuire, Betty Walters and Grace Kelley.

The remaining hours were spent informally. Later a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The small tables attractively arranged were centered with bowls of garden flowers.

Doris Bevan will be the devotional leaders at the next regular meeting on Friday, November 13. The place to be announced later.

Scouts Have Wiener Roast

The Boy Scouts of Troop 4 hiked out Clayton street Thursday evening, about a mile into the woods, where they enjoyed a wiener roast. A camp fire meeting filled the earlier hours, during which plans were discussed for the field meeting that will be held sometime in November.

Later wieners and marshmallows were roasted before the glowing embers.

"BACKWARD" PARTY FOR MAHGI CLUB
Mahgi club members enjoyed the hospitality extended Thursday evening in the home of Dorothy Metzler on West Cherry street, who entertained in a most gracious manner at their first party of the Fall season.

The occasion was in the form of a "backward" event, the guests arriving with their dresses on backwards and upon being admitted through the back door, entered into a period of games, that two, were in keeping with the occasion. When lunch arrived, dessert was served first, adding further to the enjoyment of the evening's festivities. Misses Dorothy Stritzinger, Vida Mullen received the contest awards while Helen Stritzinger was awarded the prize for having the most complete backward ensemble.

A business discussion was called with president, Helen Stritzinger in charge, when plans were formed for a Halloween party on October 28, the place to be decided.

Loyal Workers Have Meeting On Friday

Mrs. J. T. Clark was hostess to members of the Loyal Workers class of the Madison Avenue Christian church Friday evening as they gathered at her home on West Madison avenue for their regular monthly meeting.

The president, Miss Sue Park, presided over a short business session, after which the remaining hours were spent informally. Rev. Milton E. Shearer was a special guest of the evening.

At a later hour the hostess served a delicious lunch. She was assisted by her daughter, Betty Lee, and Mrs. C. H. Clark.

The next meeting on Tuesday, November 24, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark on the Mt. Jackson road.

Hallow'een Party For Queen Esthers

Gathering at the home of Mary Ellen Shanafelt, West Madison avenue, in all manner of costumes, the members of the Queen Esther society of the Mahagi M. E. church enjoyed a Halloween party on Friday evening.

A short business meeting filled in the earlier hours, after which the evening was turned over to the enjoyment of various games and contests.

Later a tempting lunch was served by the hostess aided by Miss Tina Cooper. Decorations were carried out in tones of orange and black.

The next meeting on November 13 will be held at the home of Dorothy Guynn on Sheridan avenue.

TROOP 19
At the regular weekly meeting of the Girl Scouts of Troop 19, held Friday evening at Walnut Glen, the following patrol leaders were elected: Marian Wallace, Marian Sacco, Patricia Taylor and Dorothy Gibson.

During the earlier part of the evening, various games were enjoyed after which they gathered in patrol corners for short business meetings. Miss Angeline Castrucci explained the sale of cookies which the girls will undertake in the near future. The meeting was then closed with taps.

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—A license as a student pilot has been granted to Elon R. Coates, R. D. 2, New Castle, by the Bureau of Air Commerce, it was announced today.

The license authorizes Coates to pilot a licensed aircraft when accompanied by an instructor who himself holds a license of grade high enough to permit him to teach others.

Additional Gifts Help Library Fund

Donations to the Free Public library campaign were still being reported to leaders of the drive even though active solicitation ended last Monday, Walter W. Duff, head of the successful campaign forces, said today.

Among the late gifts is a $5 contribution from Girl Scout Troop 8, reported by Mrs. Ralph F. Davis.

Indications are that the $30,968 obtained in the campaign will be given an appreciable boost during the next week.

The drive was staged to raise funds for acquiring the old post office property for a modern library.

Grangers Hold Degree Contest

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 10.—An interesting meeting took place last evening at the North Sewickley township Grange hall, on the Ellwood-New Brighton road, when the first and second degree teams held a contest, with Sharp Fullerton of near New Castle as the principal judge.

Members of the Big Knob Grange were special guests at this meeting and the local grangers initiated a class of 18 candidates for membership into the Big Knob Grange.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 15, the Grange will entertain members of the local Rotary club at a chicken dinner.

The Grange has been newly decorated by the economic committee, which is composed of Mrs. Charles Krepps, Mrs. G. N. Hazen and Mrs. Nelson Boyer.

A social time followed the meeting last evening, with the entire group being served tempting refreshments by the "surprise" committee.

On Friday evening, Oct. 23, the next regular meeting of the Grange will take place.

Frank Kroll
Given Farewell Orange Ladies Meet Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 10.—In honor of Frank Kroll of the Ellwood-Zellenole road who left this week to enter a Bible seminary in New York, a farewell party was given recently at the home of Miss Betty Corbin of North Sewickley. There was a large number of friends and relatives in attendance coming from Butler, Evans City, New Brighton and this vicinity.

The hours were passed in an enjoyable manner with a number of features including vocal selection by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rader and Rev. and Mrs. Norman Hirschy of Evans City. There were piano selections by Miss Lis Wagner and Harold Foster and guitar numbers by Gene Hessler and Harold Foreman.

At an appropriate hour a tempting luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. George Corbin.

During the evening the guest of honor was presented with an Oxford Bible as a gift from his many friends and well-wishers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson of North Sewickley were recent guests at the home of their relatives at Petersburg.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The stock market displayed a steady tone in a narrow range mostly around previous closing levels. Steels, rails, and motors were generally unchanged to fractionally higher. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors and New York Central all were included in this classification.

Second-Vacuum featured firm oil sector. Small gains were registered by Texas Corp., Standard of California and Standard of N. J. While the trend in coppers was somewhat irregular, Anaconda pushed into new high territory. Kennecott lost ground and Phelps-Dodge was moderately improved.

Baldwin was a low-priced feature, chalking up a large fractional advance to around 4 1/2. Blue-chip industrials, like American Can, American Telephone and Western Union, were neglected. Eastman Kodak gained more than a point. The bond market also was quiet and steady. Grains were higher with wheat rising more than a cent a bushel. Cotton dipped slightly.
